The Crime Picture

The Criminal Justice Funnel

Sources of Data

Nationally, crime statistics come from two major sources:

Additionally, data are available from:

- Professional organizations (example: PERF)
- Offender self-reports
- Other regular publications (example: Sourcebook of Criminal Justice Statistics)

The UCR/NIBRS Program

Uniform Crime Reports

- The reports began in 1930.
- Data are collected by
- Approximately 16,000 police agencies provide data.
- Only

Until 2006-Comprised of _____

UCR: Crime Index

The Index is made up of Part I Offenses

Part I Offenses

Violent Crime

Property Crime

NIBRS: The New UCR

National Incident Based Reporting System

- FBI started this program in 1988.

NIBRS

The new UCR/NIBRS is much more detailed than the old UCR system, including data on:

- the personal characteristics of the victim and offender
- nature of victim-offender relationship

It also replaced the old Part I and Part II offenses with _____

UCR/NIBRS

22 offenses include:

- kidnapping
- larceny
- motor vehicle theft
- pornography
- prostitution
- narcotics offenses
- embezzlement
- extortion
- arson
- assault
- bribery
- burglary
- counterfeiting
- vandalism
- gambling
- homicide
- fraud
- weapons violations
- robbery
- forcible sex offenses
- non-forcible sex offenses
- receiving stolen property

UCR/NIBRS

Also collects data on:

- bad checks
- vagrancy
- disorderly conduct
- driving under the influence
- drunkenness
- non-violent family offenses
- liquor law violations
- “peeping Tom” activities
- runaways
- trespassing
- general category of all “other” criminal law violations

UCR/NIBRS: Crime Rates

Most UCR/NCVS information is reported as a rate of crime. (%)

Crime Rate = _____

Rates allow for comparison across areas and times.

Major Shifts in Crime Rates

Since the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting Program began, there have been three major shifts in crime rates—and we may now be at the start of the fourth.

Major Shifts in Crime Rates

1. _____ drop in crime rate as many young men went to WWII.
2. _____—Dramatic increase in crime rates as police professionalism and victim reporting grew.
3. _____—Significant decline in most major crime rates as funding for crime fighting increase and many embrace a “get tough” attitude.
4. _____—Violent crime rates starting to rise again pushed by economic uncertainty, more teens, copycat crimes, and social disorganization.

Actual and Projected Rates of Crime (1950–2010)

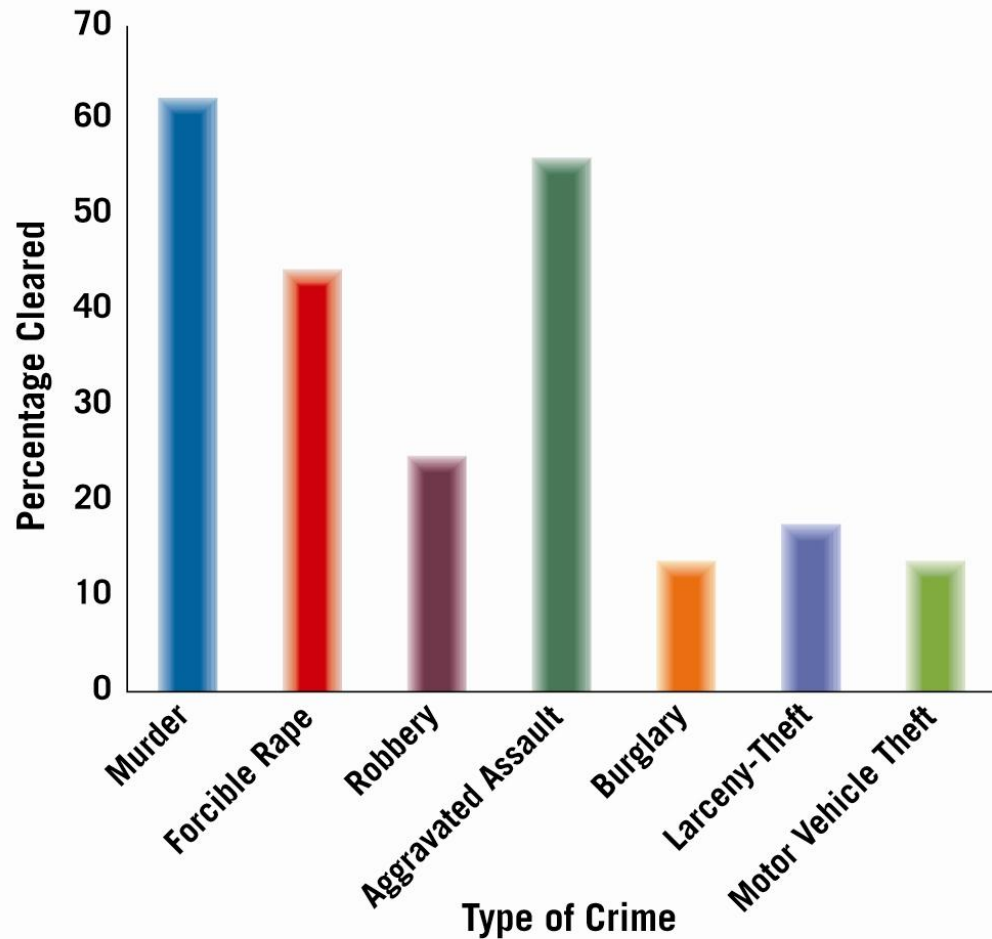

UCR/NIBRS in Transition

UCR/NIBRS: Clearance Rates

Clearance Rate = _____

Careful on “solved”- if person who committed offenses dies, then these are also “solved”

Dark Figure of Crime

NCVS

National Crime Victimization Survey

- Began operation in 1972
- Based on victim self-reports
- Designed to measure the “dark figure” of crime
- Uses data collected by the Bureau of Justice Statistics
- More than 50,000 households are surveyed twice per year
- Measures “households” touched by crimes

NCVS

Includes data on:

NCVS Statistics Reveal

- About _____ of all violent crime is reported.
- Slightly more than _____ of all property crime is reported.
- Victims are more likely:

Problems with the UCR/NIBRS and the NCVS

UCR/NIBRS

- Not everyone reports
- Some crimes are rarely reported
- Victims inaccuracies
- Bureaucratic influences
- Hierarchical counting system
- Contains only data that FBI thinks is appropriate

NCVS

- There is potential for false or exaggerated reports
- False reports may be generated by overzealous interviewers
- Some people won't respond
- Respondents may suffer from faulty memories
- Respondents may misinterpret events
- Hierarchical counting system
- Contains only data that BJS thinks is appropriate

Other Categories of Crime

Special Categories of Crime

- Crime against women
- Crime against the elderly
- Hate crime
- Corporate and white-collar crime
- Organized crime
- Gun crime
- Drug crime
- High-technology and computer crime
- Terrorism

Women and Crime

- Compared to men, women are:
 - More likely than men
- More likely to

Findings of the National Violence Against Women Survey (NVAWS)

- 52% of women surveyed have been physically assaulted as a child or as an adult.
- Approximately 1.9 million women are physically assaulted in the U.S. each year.
- 25% of women, compared to 8% of men surveyed, said they had experienced partner violence.
- 18% of women have experienced a completed or attempted rape; more than half of these were under 18 when first raped.
- Women are significantly more likely to be injured during an assault.
- Violence against women is primarily partner violence.
- 8% of women have been stalked.

Bureau of Justice Statistics

- Women living in central cities are more likely to be victimized than suburban women.
- Suburban women are more likely to be victimized than women in rural areas.
- Low-income women experience the most violent crime.
- Women age 20–24 are most at risk for violent victimization.
- Victimization of women falls as family income rises.
- Women who are unemployed, students, or in the armed forces are most likely to experience violent victimization.
- African-American women are most likely to be victims of violent crime.
- Hispanic women are victimized more frequently than whites.

Anti-Stalking Laws

- All states have anti-stalking laws, which give additional protection to women.
- Cyberstalking involves using the internet, email, or other electronic communication technologies to stalk another person.

Drug Crime

- The rate of drug related crime has
- Federal drug prosecutions increased from 11,854 in 1984 to nearly 40,000 in 2001.
